

Foxes 'saved'

THREE fox cubs found on a Wilmington building site have been "rescued" and handed to volunteer wildlife helper Martin Turner.

But he says the cubs could have been reclaimed by their mother had they been left alone. They will be released into the wild later this year.